The Texas member was decussing his bill before the Judicary Committee to prohibit any Federal employe whomsolver from receiving any return or from any corporation engaged in interstate commerce.

"Few men are guilty of being convuptly influenced, but the fact remains that they are subject to influences which this bill, if enacted into law, would remove." He declared, Representative Nice, of Minnesota, a Republican member of the Judiciary Committee, took exception to Mr. Randelly allegations.

Mr. Nye said it would be better for the author of the bill, the House and the country if Mr. Randell would appeal from the committee to the ifouse, "instead of reflecting indirectly on the membership of the House."

Mr. Randell protested that he meant in oreflection on any one, and said that nothing he had said could be so construed. The incident was dropped.

The Young Ladie's Literary Club was honored this afternoon by having Mra Kate Langley Bosher, authoress of "Miss Gibby Gault" and "Mary Cary," deliver a very entertaining talk on "Woman," and she also read a charming selection from "The Lonely Man," her new book, which she said was just out. The Woman's Club, the Junior Literary Club and other friends were guests of the afternoon. The club rooms were decorated with jonquils, and dainty refreshments were served by Misses Margaret Lee, Katherine Kent, Seabrooke Midyette, Anne Hunter, Imogene Riddick and Fannie Lanosster. A Home Remedy For Chapped Hands

Before retiring at night wash the hands well and after drying with soft towel, apply Mentolated Suet liberally. If the treatment is kept up, the hands can be kept smooth and soft and entirely free from chapping. Mentolated Suet is also a valuable remedy for cracked or chapped lips and rough skins. Apply at night before retiring.
